Against Florida Citrus Fruit in Favor of Porto Rico and Cuba.

The New York Fruitman's Guide of the 21st inst. contained the following from its Jacksonville correspondent:

B. F. Tillinghast of Crescent City, is hot on the trail again. Last year he came right out in meeting-as is a habit of Mr. Tillinghast-and declared that Florida citrus fruits were being Beggs' practice during his absence, didn't attempt to state what motive has decided to reman as Dr. Beggs' as- impelled such alleged discrimination. Now he is back to the charge as a recent letter to the Times-Union, as follows demonstrates:

"The question of the standards for the maturity of citrus fruits may be accepted as settled. But the greater and more vital question of fair play is one that demands the closest vigilance. Florida has begun to market its new crop of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines, one of the largest latka motored to Huntimoton on the largest than the railroad tariffs.
